
Russian-Kokand relations in the early 19th century (By the example of Philip Nazarov Embassy period)

J.J. Yakobjanov

The Republic of Uzbekistan Academy of Sciences History
Institute base doctoral candidate

This article focuses on the Kokand khanate and the political and diplomatic relations of the Russian Empire in the early 19th century. In the course of these diplomatic relations, several embassies were established between the two countries. One of these is Philip Nazarov. This article will tell you about its embassy, its purpose and its consequences.

References

1. Ishquvlatov V.T Diplomatic relations of Kokand-Russia in the history of the second half of the 20th century. History. candidate diss. Tashkent, 2004. 25 page
2. Bababekov H.N. Popular movements in the Kokand khanate and their socio-economic and political prepositions (XVIII - XIX centuries). Diss. History. sciences. Tashkent, 1991. Page. 36
3. Topildiev N. The Kokand Khanate and the Russian Empire are at the crossroads of history. Tashkent: Academician, 2012. 76 page