SongIn English making sentence in the correct language order is difficult for students because English is a foreign language. In this research focus on simple past tense. This research was conducted on tenth grade students in SMK Antartika 2 Sidoarjo who have understanding problems in simple past tense. This research aims to determine whether there is a significant influence on students' achievement in simple past tense. This study used the pre-experimental design with Wilcoxon Sign Rank test and saturated sample technique. The researcher uses the song as media in delivery of simple past tense to make it easier to understand.
